

Concession Stand
2014-2015 School Year

Chairpeople:

Kirsten Ridilla & Tammy Cahill

It was another successful year at the Stang! If we had a mission statement, it would be something to the effect: The Stang provides a wonderful, safe after-school environment for middle and upper school students to congregate and fuel up for sports and after school activities. We provide a variety of snacks and drinks, with many nutritious options. The parent volunteers interact with the kids and promote courtesy, patience and respect. Proceeds help the DPA with many important initiatives.

We began our preparation with a major trip to Costco to stock up before classes started in August. On average we go to Costco every two weeks. Our goal is to provide the kids with a variety of snacks and drinks that can be purchased for $1.00 or $2.00. For the most part, we avoid items that have short shelf lives, except for bagels and cream cheese, as we sell these quickly. Our list of snacks and drinks are at the end of this document.

Tammy and I worked at registration to promote the Stang and encourage parents to volunteer. Our biggest challenge is filling the daily need for volunteers. We could sure use a few more next year. We had a core group of approximately 15 volunteers, several of whom we will lose for the next school year (kids leaving or graduating). Tammy and I usually end up working at least once a week. It would be wonderful to have some help promoting and encouraging volunteers for next year.

We sell a number of concession cards for $10.00/$11.00 worth of punches. These are somewhat popular, but I believe with additional promotion, we could sell more.

We have a locked cash box for income, and I make a deposit each month. Barb Somerville will be able to better report the income/expense.

As most are aware, we did encounter some controversy this year. Disapproval for the less-than-healthy options (candy) was vocalized by at least one parent. It was, at least for the moment, determined that the options, although not all healthy and nutritious, provide a sufficient variety, enabling students to make their own choices.

Tammy and I are back on board for at least another school year.
